Are you constantly challenged with providing high quality, readily accessible and up-to-date information to Executive Management, Operations, Users and Sales personnel? If so, the BI Appliance Starter Kit will enable your organization to transform mounds of data into business critical information to support complex decisions making in large and small organizations.

While most business professionals understand the value and power of Business Intelligence programs, they have experienced less than successful results in the past. These sub-par results have occurred due to the complexity and cost of proposed solutions along with limited or no training for users!

The BI Appliance Starter Kit from eAlliance, powered by Oracle, is a complete and integrated solution that provides everything needed to create highly formatted reports, operational dashboards with ad-hoc analysis, and to consolidate data for a complete view of your business. The Kit includes the same technology used by leading organizations and can scale as your business needs grow.

The BI Appliance Starter Kit developed exclusively by eAlliance and powered by Oracle will provide you with the software, hardware platform and consulting services needed to realize the enormous benefits from a fully integrated Business Intelligence solution. Please review the contents of our BI Appliance Starter Kit and contact us at eAlliance to find out how to get your very own.
